Mark Your Calendars!

For more information, visit colby.norwich.edu

A message from the President

Dear Friends,

The renovation of the Kreitzberg Library is underway! This $6.5M project is in full swing with incredible improvements planned. The official kickoff took place on January 26, 2015, marking the first project of the $100M Forging the Future Bicentennial Campaign. Ironically when the preliminary work began in early December, moving books and other materials to the basement for storage, the library staff made earplugs available to students. A hidden cost of progress!

In early April, the Colby Military Writers’ Symposium will celebrate its twentieth anniversary. This year’s topic is Cyber Warfare and Privacy: How Do We Keep the Balance between the Rights of Citizens and the Security of the Nation?

The Colby is always a wonderful experience, and a chance to see the best of Norwich and its students. Come join us this April 8th and 9th!

This coming fall, our annual meeting will take place on Friday, October 2nd. Right now, the plan is to hold it in the Multi-purpose Room. This will give all of us a chance to see the newly renovated library and how technology has impacted learning and teaching through information acquisition, delivery, processing, and use. See you at the Kreitzberg!

Tim Donovan, NU’62

Kreitzberg Library Renovation Information

To follow the latest renovation news online go to:
http://academics.norwich.edu/library/library-renovation-overview/
The completion date is set for early August before the start of the next school year.
Bicentennial Campaign funds Library Renovations continued

They’re carrying hundreds of books around with them electronically.

The $6.5 million library renovation project will include the construction of new workstations, expansion of group study and collaborative learning areas, and the creation of two high-tech classrooms as well as a café.

Readers Recommend...

Tim Donovan:
Alvin York: A New Biography of the Hero of the Argonne by Douglas Mastriano

What a great book! The author has done a masterful job of telling the story of Alvin York with York’s own words plus adding recently discovered forensic evidence to validate them. Extremely well written, with incredible research and documentation; you can tell that the author was motivated to get the story right. I have to admit that when I was reading direct quotes of Alvin York that in my mind’s eye I saw Gary Cooper speaking. This book is also the Colby Award winner for 2015.

Frank W. Tilton:
Vanished: The Sixty Year Search for the Missing Men of WW2 by Wil S. Hylton

Some readers – especially those with military background – may be surprised to learn of the tenacity and determination of some civilians who have devoted much of their lives and their fortunes in a quest to answer nagging questions. One such civilian, when diving beneath remote Pacific island waters, discovered wartime wreckage. “This was a four-engine plane,” he said. “This was an American grave.” That realization changed his life. He was a civilian, a physician, and a medical researcher for a biotech company – his own company. But the moment he saw a submerged B-24 Liberator, he began to ask questions after realizing, “Young men (had) died. They had come spiraling down in a plane with one wing and probably either died on impact or drowned in the sea. Did anyone know? Was there a record of what happened? Did their families know?” And with that a civilian named Scannon – and later others – “began to act out of a sense of duty and responsibility that would consume the next two decades...” Readers will be amazed, and humbled, as they come to see such devotion to the cause of changing “missing in action” to “recovered and returned.” War, we readers learn, does not become history for the families of the MIA. Not until the fallen come home.

Therapy Dogs Visit Norwich

By Nikki Krysak

Since fall 2012, the Library has held an annual StressBusters event for students the week before final exams. Popular activities have included acupuncture and massage. In December 2014, Nikki Krysak invited Therapy Dogs of Vermont (TDV) to the Library as a way to remind students of their pets back home and of the joy that follows the upcoming grueling week of final exams. We struck gold!

Despite a massive snow storm that day, our most successful StressBusters event to date packed the library full of students, dogs, and handlers eager to share in the genuine affection and companionship that only an animal can deliver. TDV is a nationally-renowned volunteer organization that frequents hospitals, retirement communities, rehabilitation and correctional facilities, schools, and libraries.

The event was so popular with students and TDV volunteers that both have asked for regular visits with the dogs. We’ve decided to add a spring StressBusters event and host Yappy Hour during the fall and spring mid-terms, thanks to the large support from TDV.

TDV has nearly two decades of service under their belts. The therapy dogs have been through a rigorous testing and certification process, one that has evolved over 17 years. TDV measures its success by the large number of people they help in our communities and they do it all free of charge. Every day, across Vermont, TDV’s certified teams make magic with warm fur and wagging tails.

To become a member of the Friends or renew your membership go to: academics.norwich.edu/library/about/friends/join/ or contact Christa Stook at cstook@norwich.edu or 802-485-2070
Bicentennial Campaign funds Library
Renovations continued

They’re carrying hundreds of books around with them electronically.

The $6.5 million library renovation project will include the construction of new workstations, expansion of group study and collaborative learning areas, and the creation of two high-tech classrooms as well as a café.

Readers Recommend...

Tim Donovan:
Alvin York: A New Biography of the Hero of the Argonne
by Douglas Mastriano
What a great book! The author has done a masterful job of telling the story of Alvin York with York’s own words plus adding recently discovered forensic evidence to validate them. Extremely well written, with incredible research and documentation; you can tell that the author was motivated to get the story right. I have to admit that when I was reading direct quotes of Alvin York that in my mind’s eye I saw Gary Cooper speaking. This book is also the Colby Award winner for 2015.

Frank W. Tilton:
Vanished: The Sixty Year Search for the Missing Men of WW2
by Wil S. Hylton
Some readers – especially those with military background – may be surprised to learn of the tenacity and determination of some civilians who have devoted much of their lives and their fortunes in a quest to answer nagging questions. One such civilian, when diving beneath remote Pacific island waters, discovered wartime wreckage. “This was a four-engine plane,” he said. “This was an American plane.” Then he corrected himself, “This is an American grave.” That realization changed his life. He was a civilian, a physician, and a medical researcher for a biotech company – his own company. But the moment he saw a submerged B-24 Liberator, he began to ask questions after realizing, “Young men (had) died. They had come spiraling down in a plane with one wing and probably either died on impact or drowned in the sea. Did anyone know? Was there a record of what happened? Did their families know?” And with that, a civilian named Scannon – and later others – “began to act out of a sense of duty and responsibility that would consume the next two decades...” Readers will be amazed, and humbled, as they come to see such devotion to the cause of changing “missing in action” to “recovered and returned.” War, we readers learn, does not become history for the families of the MIA. Not until the fallen come home.

Therapy Dogs Visit Norwich

By Nikki Krysak

Since fall 2012, the Library has held an annual StressBusters event for students the week before final exams. Popular activities have included acupuncture and massage. In December 2014, Nikki Krysak invited Therapy Dogs of Vermont (TDV) to the Library as a way to remind students of their pets back home and of the joy that follows the upcoming grueling week of final exams. We struck gold!

Despite a massive snow storm that day, our most successful StressBusters event to date packed the library full of students, dogs, and handlers eager to share in the genuine affection and companionship that only an animal can deliver. TDV is a nationally-renowned volunteer organization that frequents hospitals, retirement communities, rehabilitation and correctional facilities, schools, and libraries.

The event was so popular with students and TDV volunteers that both have asked for regular visits with the dogs. We’ve decided to add a spring StressBusters event and host Yappy Hour during the fall and spring mid-terms, thanks to the large support from TDV.

TDV has nearly two decades of service under their belts. The therapy dogs have been through a rigorous testing and certification process, one that has evolved over 17 years. TDV measures its success by the large number of people they help in our communities and they do it all free of charge. Every day, across Vermont, TDV’s certified teams make magic with warm fur and wagging tails.

To become a member of the Friends or renew your membership go to: academics.norwich.edu/library/about/friends/join/ or contact Christa Stook at cstook@norwich.edu or 802-485-2070
Dear Friends,

The renovation of the Kreitzberg Library is underway! This $6.5M project is in full swing with incredible improvements planned. The official kickoff took place on January 26, 2015, marking the first project of the $100M Forging the Future Bicentennial Campaign. Ironcally when the preliminary work began in early December, moving books and other materials to the basement for storage, the library staff made earplugs available to students. A hidden cost of progress!

In early April, the Colby Military Writers’ Symposium will celebrate its twentieth anniversary. This year’s topic is Cyber Warfare and Privacy: How Do We Keep the Balance between the Rights of Citizens and the Security of the Nation? The Colby is always a wonderful experience, and a chance to see the best of Norwich and its students. Come join us this April 8th and 9th!

This coming fall, our annual meeting will take place on Friday, October 2nd. Right now, the plan is to hold it in the Multi-purpose Room. This will give all of us a chance to see the newly renovated library and how technology has impacted learning and teaching through information acquisition, delivery, processing, and use.

See you at the Kreitzberg!

Tim Donovan, NU ’62

Forging the Future Bicentennial Campaign
Funds Library Renovations

The library renovations are part of the university’s Forging the Future Bicentennial Campaign. To follow the latest renovation news online, go to: http://academics.norwich.edu/library/library-renovation-overview/

The completion date is set for early August before the start of the next school year.